

March GRIN
Meeting

Thinking Outside The Box

This event will challenge you to think about design and creativity in a whole new way. Thinking outside the box means to take a unique approach to an old or new problem that has never been thought of. In order to continue to be cutting edge companies more and more are becoming open innovation companies because they understand that in order to continue to compete domestically and globally they need to reach outside their box of talent. We will challenge your way of thinking with new and exciting concepts.

Please join GRIN in welcoming Dan Fisher. Dan is an engineer, composer, business consultant and product developer who holds 12 patents and who has also composed compositions played by the London Symphony Orchestra, the London Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and others. His compositions include Stealing the Night, Elyse's Lullaby and Silk Stone Heart.
